

JOB/INTERNSHIP SEARCHES IN INTERNATIONAL PUBLIC HEALTH & DEVELOPMENT

CCIH strives to assist students as well as young and experienced professionals seeking jobs or internships in international development, with special focus on health. For an electronic version of this listing, including convenient hyperlinks to websites, visit our website, www.ccih.org Careers>Resources. For further resources, including suggestions for public health education, and resume and cover letter help, visit our web resources at <http://www.ccih.org/resources-for-students.html>.

NGO JOBS & INTERNSHIPS

1. Child Family Health International places health science students in global health education programs. www.cfhi.org
2. DevelopmentAid job board that posts 20-30 positions every day: <http://www.developmentaid.org/>.
3. Doctors Without Borders internships year-round: <http://www.doctorswithoutborders.org/work/office/internships.cfm?ref=main-menu>
4. Global Health Fellows Program: <http://www.ghfp.net/>
5. Global Health Strategies internships year-round: <http://ghstrat.com/careers/>
6. International Health (IH) Blog posts available internships <http://aphaih.wordpress.com/tag/internship/>
7. The Medical Library Association, career development services and specific jobs: <http://www.mlanet.org/jobs/index.html>
8. NonprofitJobMarket online list of NGO job opportunities: www.nonprofitjobmarket.org/search.aspx
9. Population Services International internships year-round: <http://www.psi.org/about-psi/psi-at-a-glance>
10. Worldwide NGO Directory compiled by the World Association of Non-Governmental Organizations (WANGO): www.wango.org/resources.aspx?section=ngodir#tab1. Browse the list of NGOs by region/criteria.

FAITH-BASED SEARCHES & VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

1. The Catholic Volunteer Network www.cnvs.org lists thousands of volunteer opportunities. Click "Search volunteer opportunities."
2. HelpingWorldwide.org provides links to many organizations providing assistance in the developing world. The resources on the site can be searched by area of interest, including mission trips, collecting medical and other supplies, finances and sharing technologies. www.helpingworldwide.org
3. MissionFinder, short-term health & medical missions, links with other websites on short-term missions: <http://mfinder.org/>
4. Mission Handbook (U.S. & Canadian Protestant), a directory of over 1000 mission agencies: www.billygrahamcenter.com/worldpulseonline/missionhandbook and Essential Guide to Short Term Mission Trips www.amazon.com/Essential-Guide-Short-Term-Mission/dp/0802425267
5. Volunteer, short-term Christian medical assignments: www.cmda.org, www.internationalaid.org, www.mercyandtruth.com, www.amginternational.org, www.blessing.org, or www.internationalmessengers.org.

GOVERNMENT JOBS

1. Federal Government jobs, some of them are in global health and international development, are listed at <http://www.usajobs.gov/>.
2. If interested in working with the Federal Government as a contractor/subcontractor, check out the website of Federal Business Opportunities <https://www.fbo.gov/index?cck=1&au=&ck=>
3. USAID New Entry Professional program. Go to www.usaid.gov
4. U.S. Department of State's Bureau of International Organization provides information to U.S. citizens about professional employment opportunities at the United Nations and other international organizations <http://intlorganizationjobs.state.gov/iva/default.aspx>

GENERAL DATABASES & SEARCH ENGINES

1. The American Medical Students Association: < <http://www.amsa.org/global/>>
2. The American Public Health Association CareerMart lists jobs, mostly domestic: <www.apha.org/career/>. You can post your resume and search for listed jobs online. Their annual meeting is great to seek jobs.
3. The Association of Schools of Public Health <www.asph.org> job information service for students in public health. "Employment & Training." See listings, many academic jobs, subscribe to an email job notification service at <www.publichealthjobs.net>
4. CharityJob: the UK's busiest site for charity/non-profit jobs: <www.charityjob.co.uk>
5. Devex advertises international development jobs all around the world. Join for free: <<http://www.devex.com/>>.
6. DevNetJobs.org: <www.devnetjobs.org> is a list of international development jobs used by a large number of jobseekers and development recruiters. You may subscribe or gain free access to a lot of information.
7. Global Health Career Ladder, maintained by Johns Hopkins Center for Global Health, is a searchable database dedicated to help job seekers find your next global health opportunity: <<http://www.globalhealthcareerladder.org/>>
8. Idealist: jobs, internships, and volunteer opportunities in health and other sectors in 153 countries: <www.idealist.org>
9. The Public Health Employment Connection of the American Schools of Public Health Employment Council contains hundreds of current job openings in domestic/international health: <<http://cfusion.sph.emory.edu/PHEC/phec.cfm>>.
10. Public Health Jobs Worldwide, P.O. Box 6729, Charlottesville, VA 22906, publishes a bi-weekly newspaper listing over 500 jobs in the U.S. and overseas. <www.jobspublichealth.com> provides free access to many of these public health openings.
11. Riley Guide and Job Hunt both provide a directory of up-to-date job search resources <rileyguide.com> and <www.job-hunt.org/>

OTHER JOB/INTERNSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

1. For career and job pages of 36 leading global health employers <<http://www.child-survival.org/resources/careers.php>>
2. The World Bank <www.worldbank.org> and the projects it finances employ many mid-level health consultants. There is no central point to get information. Networking with the relevant offices is required.
3. Check out with the career services office at your college/university or with local newspaper's website. Job openings are often posted there along with local career advice.