The CCIH Annual Conference

Sharing Best Practices and Christian Fellowship

CCIH is the only organization in the world seeking to unite all Christian health ministries—international and local—to promote global health and wholeness. One way we do this is through our annual conference, which serves as a resource for Christians working in global health, and provides connections and opportunities to share experiences and best practices.

A Strong Community for Lasting Health

Faith-based organizations (FBO) have a long history of serving people who are most in need, who otherwise lack access to quality health services. FBOs provide a substantial proportion of health services in many countries, making this conference especially strategic for groups trying to reach vulnerable people with care.

The theme of the 2019 conference is Called to Care: A Strong Community for Lasting Health. We will explore how FBOs can build the capacity of local communities and organizations and strengthen health systems. We will also focus on how faith-based organizations can incorporate human-centered design, ensure our programs are resilient and work with other FBOs, churches, NGOs and governments to ensure communities are self sufficient.

Do nothing from selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility count others more significant than yourselves. Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others. -Philippians 2:3-4

Conference Format

To be held June 6-8, 2019 at Johns Hopkins University, the conference is a blend of plenary and breakout sessions featuring Christian leaders working in global health, as well as representatives from government agencies and other partners who support global health programs. Time to network and make valuable connections is built into the schedule.

Sponsoring Attendees

CCIH invites and encourages students and developing country professionals to participate in the Annual Conference. CCIH offers scholarships that include a waived fee for registration and meals, and a discount on lodging. In order to keep the registration fee reasonable for other participants, CCIH needs support to help offset the scholarship and other conference costs. Scholarship sponsors who support attendees at the full funding level will receive special mention in the printed program and during the conference.

Luann & Ray Martin Maternal and Child Health Scholarship $525

This scholarship honors the memory of Mrs. Luann Martin, wife of CCIH Executive Director Emeritus Ray Martin, and in appreciation of Ray's years of service to CCIH. Luann was a passionate advocate for maternal and child health and spent her career devoted to MCH, as well as encouraging and guiding the next generation of global health leaders.

These scholarships are specifically for developing country professionals and students focused on maternal and child health.

General Conference Scholarships $525

DEVELOPING COUNTRY PROFESSIONAL SCHOLARSHIP

Your sponsorship will assist developing country professionals as they use this unique opportunity to celebrate and share their Christian faith, foster new contacts, and to apply what they learn to health care needs in their own countries.

STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP

Your sponsorship will assist students attend the conference and enable them to explore their Christian faith along with their calling to global health.

Other benefits may be available at request. We look forward to individual discussions with potential sponsors.
