

Internship Program Overview

Christian Connections for International Health (CCIH) is a Washington, DC area non-profit membership organization that seeks to mobilize and empower our network to promote global health and wholeness from a Christian perspective.

Motivated by our Christian faith and our values, CCIH envisions a world where all have access to quality healthcare and prevention services. CCIH's goal is to share information and provide a forum for dialogue, networking, advocacy, capacity-building, and fellowship to the ever-increasing spectrum of organizations and individuals interested in how transformational Christian faith has a positive impact on international health.

CCIH is looking for a masters or doctoral level student to serve as a M&E intern for the 30x30 health systems strengthening initiative. The 30x30 Health Systems Initiative is a CCIH effort to strengthen 30 health systems in which faith-based health services operate by 2030. The foundation of 30x30 is the "health systems commitment" in which members, affiliates, and other organizations commit to work in one or more health systems to improve such things as leadership, finance, workforce, supply chain, health information, and services.
