

Making it easier to deliver more healthcare products to more people in need.

Boaz is a first-in-class software platform to match donated medicines and healthcare products to humanitarian aid organisations. Simplify the complexity of global product donation programmes. Our all-in-one product donation management software provides visibility across the entire donations journey, making it easier, faster and cost-effective to donate more products.

IHP's aspiration is that Boaz unlocks untapped storehouses of resources as more organisations manage their global product donation programmes through the platform. The system is named after the Biblical character Boaz, who gladly shares his ample resources. Just like the story of Boaz, which embodies generosity, integrity, partnership, and good timing, the system offers a multiplier effect. It exponentially increases the quantity and quality of medical aid distribution, improving lives and making progress toward equitable access to healthcare.

"I use Boaz to upload excess products available for donation. It's an effective tool for capturing all necessary information in one place, with a historical record of all offers, donations and inventory. The compliant process enhances operational efficiency and supports our ESG goals by ensuring surplus products are shared with those in need."

Nurse Lillian Zambia

"They (multivitamins) are making me feel better and I can't wait to go home so that I can play football with my friends. I am also happy that I have gotten better in time, and I haven't missed the Christmas party at my Sunday school."

Edward

"We have a large catchment area and see many children each day. Most of the time, we lack essential supplies. To adequately diagnose and treat every child, we need numerous tools and medical supplies. The donations help our children and makes our work easier. Children International has consistently stepped in to supplement where we fall short."

"Safety and excellence throughout the product donations process are of the utmost importance for IHP and our donors. All product donations adhere to the highest standards possible. Through Boaz, we can effectively manage healthcare product donations, ensuring transparency and high-quality reporting for our corporate partners. Boaz undoubtedly simplifies our work and enhances our impact."
